

17 points of consecrated obedience in the Ghana Kumasi Mission:

1. We do not hide the disobedience of other missionaries.
2. We never lie to our mission leaders.
3. We never misuse our sacred funds given as subsistence or transport money. We do not purchase jewelry, bags, clothing, shoes, or electronic devices with our subsistence (except that which is available through the office elders). Nor do we save money or send money home. We never forge receipts to get reimbursed dishonestly.
4. We never have a second phone or SIM card. If we have either one on our arrival to the mission, or at any time during our mission, we immediately give it to the mission president.
5. We follow the prescribed mission schedule. We get up at 6:30 am and we, and our phones, go to bed at 10:30 pm.
6. We use technology only to fulfill our missionary purpose. We do not communicate with friends and family during the week. We do not make private calls that exclude our companion except to our immediate families on Monday, or when approved by the Mission President.
7. We never watch, share, listen to, or keep possession of music, movies or other media that is contrary to the mission standards (only movies and videos on Gospel Library, Gospel Media, or approved by Sister Kunz). We do not make social media posts attached to non-mission approved music.
8. We have powerful personal study every day including Monday, and companionship study every day except Monday.
9. We never “date” other missionaries or members who reside in the mission boundaries while on mission.
10. We do not communicate with other missionaries in our mission except for OUR OWN Sister Training Leaders, Zone Leaders, and District Leaders and then only regarding mission business. The MLC communicates infrequently among themselves as necessary to fulfill their responsibilities as mission leaders.
11. We never go into public without our proselyting attire except for service projects or physical activities that cannot be reasonably done looking like missionaries.
12. We do not deliberately disregard any of the standards contained in the Missionary Standards for Disciples of Jesus Christ.
13. We proselyte on Sundays and Mondays per the approved mission schedule.
14. We always stay within sight or sound of our companion (not another missionary) except on approved exchanges, interviews with the Mission President and while in the washroom.
15. We never erase or clean message/call/usage history.
16. We never disrespect our mission leaders, our companions, or other missionaries including the spreading of rumors with an intent to degrade others.
17. We never mentally, emotionally, or physically abuse our companion.
